About this example
The loan cost example assumes that you make your first principal and interest payment one month after the payoffs are sent to the holders of your existing loans on your behalf. It is based on the highest fixed interest rate charged for this loan and associated fees. Depending on your loan amount and other factors, repayment may last up to 20 years, which is the longest period available. Shorter repayment terms are also available.
Federal Loan Alternatives

There are currently no federal loan alternatives that allow the refinance and consolidation of private education loans. Federal consolidation loans only allow for the consolidation of federal student loans and may not be used to consolidate private education loans. The interest rate for the Federal Direct Consolidation Loan equals the weighted average interest rate of the loans being consolidated, rounded up to the nearest one-eighth of one percent.

Think carefully before using a refinance loan to pay off your federal student loans. If you refinance your federal student loans through this program, you will lose federal student loan benefits such as income driven repayment or loan forgiveness options that may be available to federal student loan borrowers. In addition, federal student loans offer deferment and forbearance options that are not available to you if you take out a private refinance loan.

You may qualify for a Federal Direct Consolidation Loan. For additional information about a consolidation option for federal loans, contact the Department of Education at www.studentaid.gov. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, interest on the federal loan alternatives listed will be waived. The federal student loan interest waiver will remain in effect until further guidance is provided by the federal government.

REFERENCE NOTES

Eligibility Criteria
Borrower
- Must be the age of majority in your state of residence.
- Must be a citizen or permanent resident of the United States.

Cosigners
- Must be the age of majority in your state of residence.
- Must be a citizen or permanent resident of the United States.
- Applying with a cosigner typically results in a lower rate.

Fixed Interest Rate
- Your loan has a fixed interest rate.
- The Interest Rate may be higher or lower than your Annual Percentage Rate (APR) because the APR considers certain fees you pay to obtain the loan, and the Interest Rate.

Bankruptcy Limitations
- If you file for bankruptcy you may still be required to pay back this loan.

Effects of Refinancing
- By choosing to refinance your student loans into a new loan, all terms of your existing loans will be eliminated, including but not limited to any borrower benefits or deferment eligibility.
- Be cautious about refinancing federal loans and private loans into one private loan. The result of refinancing all loans into one non-federal private loan means that you lose all the benefits and protections provided in the federal loan programs. For example, you lose out on federal loan options like income-based repayment and public service loan forgiveness.
- You continue to be responsible for the payments on your current loans until such time that they are paid off.

Cosigner Requirement
- A cosigner is required for this student loan if you are not able to meet our underwriting criteria on your own. If you meet our underwriting criteria, you will not need to have a cosigner for your loan. If you apply with a cosigner your loan may be less expensive.

More information about loan eligibility and repayment deferral or forbearance options is available in your loan application and credit agreement.
